It was day two of the Mississippi/Alabama double. I arrive Saturday night to pick up my packet. Took part in the free pasta dinner before going to my motel. Over the night I was up multiple times and later found out that many who ate at the pasta dinner got sick.

The run went well, but just couldn't pull off a sub-3:30. I started off well and until the second half, I felt like I could stay on pace for a sub-3:30. But a few hills towards the end prevented the sub-3:30, but still easily managed a sub-4:00.

The weather was good. It was sunny and with mild temperatures.

After the race I drove back to Louisiana for my flight home on Monday morning.
